PAMPLIN SCHOOL OF BUSINESS FOCUSES ON ETHICS

Ethical dilemmas in the workplace are not uncommon. That’s why the Pamplin School of Business prioritizes teaching ethical decision-making as part of its mission to educate principled, forward-thinking problem-solvers who are prepared to make a values-informed impact in their companies.

• In 2022-23, PSOB introduced a new, 4-year, applied business ethics curriculum for all students. Starting their first year, students are taught how to develop a framework for addressing tough decisions, and then get practice applying ethical principles to their decision making.

Listen to Dean Michael DeVaughn discuss how and why PSOB prepares its business students to make ethical decisions in the workplace.

• In partnership with UP’s Dundon-Berchtold Institute for Applied Ethics and Moral Formation, students can participate in paid internships and faculty research projects that explore ethical challenges in the professional world.

Read more about PSOB’s faculty research in business ethics.

Learn how students have gained valuable insight into workplace ethics through our innovative internship program.

100% OF BUSINESS STUDENTS COMPLETE AT LEAST ONE INTERNSHIP

Hands-on, real-world experience is central to the PSOB curriculum, and its vast network of community partners in a wide range of industries provides a multitude of internship opportunities.

In fact, one of the newest partners is the Portland Trail Blazers’ new G League team—Rip City Remix—based at UP’s Chiles Center arena. In collaboration with the team, PSOB offers students a range of internships and job opportunities in such areas as business management, data analytics, and marketing as they relate to the sports industry.

LEARN MORE business.up.edu