Oct. 4-8 New Works/New Voices: Workshop Reading of TBA by Carla Ching, Directed by Barbie Wu
When Silas Park’s girlfriend leaves him, he becomes a shut-in, writing intense autobiographical stories in his Brooklyn apartment. When literary agent Darren offers Silas a book deal, he finds himself on the verge of being the next big thing in Asian-American literature. But the appearance of Silas’ adoptive brother Finn changes the story. This stunning new play from Carla Ching asks us to consider the line between identity and storytelling. When is a story truly autobiographical? When is a story yours to tell? Mago Hunt Theater, all shows 7:30 p.m. except Oct. 8, 2 p.m. Oct 7 only: Pre-Play Reception and Panel. All show ticket holders are invited to enjoy a complimentary wine, cheese, and dessert reception as campus experts highlight what to look and listen for, courtesy of the Garaventa Center.
